RECOLLECTIONS OF MY FATHER

FENTON JOHNSON LIVED HIS YOUNGER DAYS IN THE BLACK RIVER COUNTRY NEAR BOONVILLE, NEW YORK. He was the second of eight children, only three of whom lived to be adults. Elma M. (May), his youngest sister, died when she was 16 in 1893, the year that his oldest daughter, Ruth, was born. Elmer E. (Uncle El), his brother, was a year and a half younger than Fenton. El had various problems of ill health and instability and finally lost contact with the rest of the family, so that the date and place of his death are not known.

His father held a number of different jobs and there is no clear picture remaining now of the continuity. For a time he was a lock tender on the Black River Canal which ran from Watertown to Rome, where it connected with the Erie Canal (see "Rome Haul" by Walter Edmunds). At another time he operated a water-powered saw mill in association with others. His mother, Emma Hart Johnson, was a tailoress before her marriage and may have done some tailoring in the early days in addition to making the family's clothes.

BOONVILLE was then the center of the world's largest hop-growing region and the annual hop-picking days were big social events. Fenton was able to make as much as $5.00 a night playing the accordin for dancing - far more than anyone could make in a day picking hops. In the daytime he picked hops into various girls' baskets, gratis.

Pike poles were much in demand for work with canal boats. These were long poles with steel pikes on the end used to push or pull boats and logs in the water. Fenton learned to make these as a teenage boy and sold them for $1.00. This was so profitable that he concealed the fact that it only took an hour to make one, as no one would pay a boy $1.00 for an hour's work.

Emma Hart Johnson's brother, Tom Hart, was a well-known character in Boonville for a generation. A story teller and famous horse trader, he drove a meat wagon on a regular route thru the countryside. He had a reputation as a hard drinker but this could be relative in Fenton's strict Presbyterian family. I remember seeing Uncle Tom's white meat wagon (traveling meat market) standing beside the house when I attended Grandma's funeral in 1916.

The youngest Johnson boy, Tom, was also convivial.

In 1924 Fenton finally capitulated and bought an automobile and a few years later gave up keeping a horse until had a fine tenor voice and entertained in saloons all of his younger years, being paid in drinks. Fenton continually got Tom out of trouble as long as he (Fenton) lived. In spite of lifelong alcoholism Tom lived the longest of any of the family, dying in Cleveland, Ohio in 1966 at the age of 85.

As a young man Fenton felt called to be a minister and later became a Methodist. He had learned the carpentry trade and after his marriage to Florence Genevieve Bailey they located at Clinton, N.Y. where Fenton studied at Hamilton College while working on college building construction. They lived for several years in the old Smith House in Clinton (later the Lutheran Home for the Aged) where the older children were born.

Fenton did not graduate and was not ordained, but became a local Methodist preacher and served in the Northern New York Conference over a period of about 40 years from the 1890's until he retired in 1936. There were several breaks on account of ill health. In 1898 he stopped preaching because of poor health and took the family to Tupper Lake where they lived for two years. He bought five acres on the Racquette River and built a house and two cottages for rental. He also worked on the construction of the Tupper Lake Methodist Church. His brother Tom worked for Fenton and many fishing and hunting stories stem from this two-year period.

After regaining his health he resumed preaching, serving at S. Bombay, where I was born, and at Colton. He was then forced to leave the ministry again because of loss of his speaking voice. After building ten company houses in Oriskany Falls, he and the family moved to Utica, where Fenton went in the building business, building two apartment houses and numerous single houses until 1919. Florence Genevieve died March 30, 1912. The disastrous LaBach marriage occurred in 1915 with divorce in 1917, after the birth of Barbara.

In 1919 Fenton re-entered the ministry at Jordanville, N.Y. (S. Columbia outer appointment) where he met and married Rose Hopkinson, school teacher, pianist, and piano teacher. After five years at Jordanville they moved to the St. Lawrence valley where he served for the next 12 years. He built a new church at Waddington and enjoyed some of the finest lasting friendships of a lifetime. The last charge was Fine, N.Y. with Oswegochee and Pitcairn as outer appointments. A favorite Sunday trip for the Tupper Lake Johnsons was the drive to Oswegochee for the morning service.

In 1924 Fenton finally capitulated and bought an automobile and a few years later gave up keeping a horse until after retirement. I had the difficult and dangerous job of teaching him to drive. Upon retirement at 70 Fenton and Rose bought a historic farm homestead at Richfield Springs and plunged into a new adventure. In the five years before his death he built up a dairy herd of 30 cows, remodeled the old plank house (circa 1840), built a sawmill and cut timber from the farm for market and got most of the land that had ever been cultivated back into crops. In all this work he was plagued by undependable hired men. In November 1941 a hired man disappeared, crops were in danger in a cold rain that might freeze, and Fenton went out alone with the truck to get them in. He caught pneumonia and died a few days later. Pall bearers were six grandsons, all of whom served in World War II, which began one week later (December 7, 1941). They were: Stanley and Bill Johnson, Donald and Warren Yates, Bob Wardner, and Bruce Hawthorne.

EMMA HART JOHNSON

Notes taken from her obituary in the Boonville newspaper.

Boonville people will regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Emma H. Johnson, which occurred at the home of her son, Fenton W. Johnson, at 27 Rose Place, Utica Sunday morning. Mrs. Johnson was taken ill February 1 with pleuro pneumonia, which was the cause of her death.

Mrs. Johnson was born in Boonville 71 years ago, daughter of John Hart. She married William H. Johnson, who died seven years ago. She went to Utica to live with her son two months ago. Mrs. Johnson was a member of the M.E. Church when in Boonville but recently took her church letter to Utica and affiliated with the First M.E. Church. She was a woman of many excellent qualities and in Boonville had a host of friends, who will regret to learn of her death.

D.A.R. NEWS

The General William Floyd Chapter, D.A.R. records with sorrow the death of one of its members, Mrs. Emma Hart Johnson. While Mrs. Johnson was not in the best of health and was absent from Boonville during the winters, she kept up an active interest in the chapter and attended its meetings whenever possible. Her death is a distinct loss to the chapter and to a large number of friends. Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of John Hart and Sabrina Young, granddaughter of Elias Young and Amy Tubbs, and great-granddaughter of Barney Young and Elizabeth Rankin. Barney Young, a Revolutionary soldier was born in German Flats in 1754 and died there in 1833. He was one of a band of sturdy patriots from the Mohawk Valley who served in the New York State militia during the Revolution.

"But to everything that happens there has to be a past. A past which is by now incorporated in today, but which existed yesterday or last month or last year. The present is nearly always rooted in the past."

- Agatha Christie

Help my husband, Lord, he needs thee
Fill his mouth with words of life -
As he calls to sinners, "Come ye"
Answer full his heart's desire.

JOHN SATTERLEE

John Satterlee (also spelled Satterly, Satterley) was the common ancestor of both William Henry Johnson and Emma Hart, as shown on the accompanying chart. He is probably the son of Nicholas Satterlee and had at least three brothers, Sylvester, William, and Joseph.

He was born at Hopkinton, Washington County, Rhode Island in 1745. In the spring of 1776 he enlisted as corporal in Capt. Abel Tanner's Co. in Col. George Thurston's Rhode Island Regiment, and on 27 April 1777 he re-enlisted as private in Capt. McGregor's Company in Col. John Durkee's Connecticut Regiment and served until 27 April 1780.

He married Hannah Hyde in Hopkinton, Rhode Island, 27 July 1775. From Hopkinton they moved to Saratoga County, N.Y. and then to Washington County, N.Y. He died 13 February 1829 at Jessup's Landing, N.Y.

Hannah Hyde Satterlee was allowed pension on her application executed 14 April 1842 at which time she was living in Canajoharie, Montgomery County, N.Y., aged 89 years. In 1843 she was living at Fort Plain, Montgomery County, N.Y.

The above information is in the Pension Record of John Satterlee in the National Archives.

POEMS BY FLORENCE GENEVIEVE BAILEY JOHNSON

Help my husband Lord, he needs Thee
Fill his mouth with words of fire -
As he calls to sinners, "Come ye"
Answer full his heart's desire.

Fill him with Thy spirit holy
Fill his mouth with words of love.
Help him tell to all who hear him
How Thou sent Thy heavenly Dove.

Fill him with Thy holy wisdom-
Teach him just what words to say-
Help him free their hearts from thralldom
Turn their darkness into day.

1897

"Smith's Place" Clinton, New York

My heart goes out to that home tonight
That home to us so dear.
And all the months and years in their flight
Only make it seem more dear.

We silently pass from room to room
We walk up the silent stairs
As we gaze from the windows the silent room
Reveals each dear object there.

Oh, memories eyes are very clear
There's naught that escapes their sight
And every board in that house seems dear
When veiled in memories' light.

I can hear the crunching of the snow
As Kit goes by the door
And she is glad to be home I know
As she stamps her feet on the old barn floor.

But alas, alas it is all a dream
I am back in this room once more
And all around is a winter's scene
Of mountains, and woods and moor.

Jan. 1901

Three unwritten books have we
Sent to us from One above.
When Thy books in heaven we see
Grant they may be filled with love.

We must hold the tiny fingers
While they write the first few chapters
Guardian angels all will linger
Fill the lines with Holy rapture.

Grant the pattern we may set
May reflect Thy holy Son
Never scold or never fret
Never kindness left undone.

Grant that while they now are white
We may teach them of the One
Who will ever give them light,
From early morn to setting sun.

Line by line and page by page
Soon the book will all be done
Soon will come the ripe old age
When their race will all be run.

Grant, dear Lord, we then may see
Pages filled with thoughts above
Cover all the blots there be
With the mantle of Thy love.

OLIVER (born and died April 19, 1892)

I can see our dear old home tonight
As it stands on that gentle hill
And know the ground is covered with snow
And all so quiet and still.

But yet in fancy it seems to me
As when I went there a bride
With roses a-blossoming everywhere
And life's door opening wide.

There's one little spot beneath a tree
Marked by a lily bed
Where my first born darling is resting tonight
While winds moan over his head.

Oh! how can one wee little life
That lasted but two short hours
Follow me down the stream of life
With such unrelenting power?

There're four little babies around me now
Fair as fair can be
But in and among them at their play
A fifth one oft I see-

Dearest of all to a mother's heart
Is the one I mourn for alone.
Did I love my unborn child too much
The reason He called him home?

He never knew a mother's love
But went right home to heaven
But he will know me, Ah! I know,
When the outer veil is riven.

So never a spot can seem so dear
As where his body lies
Where roses nod across the path
Beneath the smiling skies.
